Good News to Voters.

The Windom Reporter, one of the best-known republican newspapers in the second district, has this to say of the congressional candidacy of Herbert J. Miller: "This will be good news to the thousands of voters in the district who desire a representative and candidate who represents the liberal tariff ideas of the people as well as one known to be in sympathy with the general trend of sentiment on public questions in the district. Mr. Miller's record as state senator is not forgotten, and the people who believe in honesty in public affairs will gladly come to his support. The record Senator Miller made in the legislature is evidence that there will be something doing at the old congressional stand when he gets to Washington. Mr. Miller's ability to do something for the people will consist of more than sending garden seeds and writing letters. He is a worker, he is indefatigable in whatever duties he undertakes, is a resident of the district, where he has made his home for more than twenty years, where he has by hard work and industry, intelligent foresight and integrity, built up a comfortable business. He is identified with every interest in this district, because he is identified with industry and thrift. As a legislator he is known to be incorruptible, pure and clean. His work in the legislature has stood the test of criticism and fight, and there he was always on the side of the people and against the encroachments of corporate interests. The republicans will consider themselves fortunate in having a candidate who has nothing to explain, nothing to take back, nothing to apologize for, nothing to regret."

From every section come the reports that Mr. Miller's candidacy is very favorably received. The newspapers generally are giving Mr. Miller strong support, because of his views on public questions.

The Worthington Advance testifies to Mr. Miller's fitness to properly represent the people in congress: "Senator Miller of Luverne and editor of The Rock County Herald, announces himself a candidate for congressman from the Second congressional district to succeed T. J. McCleary, whose term expires this year. Mr. Miller arrived at this conclusion after considerable persuasion of his many friends about the district. He has the unanimous support of his home county. The people there have always stood by him in his business and political life, which is able testimony of his standing in that county. He has been state senator for two successive terms, and was prominent in all legislative matters. This to a large degree fits him for more usefulness in congress than a man without any experience along this line. He is a good, clean man, privately, publicly and politically, in every way reference can be made to him, and from all indications Nobles county will give him liberal, if not its solid, support, with emphasis on the solid."

And there is every reason to believe that Mr. Miller will receive handsome support from Republicans in Blue Earth county. Hundreds of republicans in Blue Earth county have taken most kindly to the idea of tariff revision, and they propose to assist in the nomination for congress of a gentleman who will carry out their views in this respect.

Candidacy Is Well Received.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found extracts from a number of newspapers relating to the congressional contest in the second district. The candidacy of Hon. Herbert J. Miller is very well received and his brethren in the profession give him some very complimentary notices. Even those newspapers that are friendly to Mr. McCleary recognize in Mr. Miller a strong man, and one who is worthy of the confidence and respect of the public. These newspapers are free to admit, too, that Mr. Miller will give Mr. McCleary a hard fight. This is a frank admission, inasmuch as it has been claimed in certain quarters that Mr. McCleary is invincible.

In his declaration for a revision of the tariff Mr. Miller appears to be meeting with the approval of a large number of the republican newspapers of the second district and elsewhere in the state. This is the issue upon which Mr. Miller goes before the people, but at the same time Mr. Miller subscribes to all the vital principles of the party of which he has been a member and supporter for twenty-five years and more. It will be up to the republicans of the second district to say whether they wish to be represented in congress by one who believes in a safe revision of tariff schedules, or by one whose platform is "standpatism."

County Superintendent of Schools.

The work and duties of the county superintendent of schools differ from those of the other county officers in that they can each, by examining the statutes of the state and the customs of their respective offices, determine what is the full duty of their office and can perform the same to the letter, while the bulk of the duties of superintendent of schools are not those required by law or that can be definitely laid out and then executed. They are most all discretionary and are left to his industry, integrity and love of work in his chosen vocation. The man counts more in this office than in any other of the county offices. We do not mean that the required duties of this office are greater or more important, but the unrequired duties are where ability, industry, education, tact and the like come in and give value to the service.

The limits of the value of the service rendered by this officer to the people are only determined by the caliber, industry, education and will of the person holding the office.

On the shoulders of the county superintendent in a very large measure rests the progress or otherwise of the rural school. In the rural school have been, and will be reared the leading men and women of this country. Because this office is so close to the home, so non-partisan, so important, it has very properly been opened to the suffrage of the ladies as well as the men. The Free Press takes pleasure in thus calling the attention of the ladies to their rights and duties as citizens to investigate the qualifications of the respective candidates for this office, and as non-partisans to cast a vote for the candidate they find best qualified and most liable to build up the rural schools.

Contest in the Second.

In an editorial relating to the congressional fight in this district The Marshall News-Messenger has this to say: "There is much comment in the metropolitan press concerning the congressional contest, if such it may be called, in the second district. Mr. McCleary, the present member, and Mr. Miller of Luverne, are candidates. Mr. McCleary is as earnestly avowing the gospel of high protection as he did a few years ago the doctrine of sound money. Mr. Miller is just as earnestly proclaiming for an immediate revision of the tariff schedules, lowering the same where it will not conflict with the reasonable interests of American manufacturers and producers, and abolishing the tariff upon products excessively profitable to the producers, and unnecessarily burdensome to consumers. These are the chief issues of the contestants, and we believe the majority of the voters of the second district agree with Mr. Miller, just as we believe the majority of the voters of the seventh district disagree with Congressman Volstead in his high tariff views. And yet Mr. Volstead's convention emphatically endorsed his tariff views, because the selection of delegates was manipulated for that purpose."

MANKATO TOWNSHIP NOTES.

William Wittrock on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week threshed the harvest of his 160 acre farm on the Mapleton road, three miles from Mankato. The threshing was done on Julius Frederique's machine. His crop of wheat aggregated 1235 1/2 bushels, averaging twenty-six bushels to the acre. His yield of oats was 987 bushels, being 82 1-3 bushels to the acre, and the whole yield of barley was 227 bushels, being sixty bushels to the acre.

Eddie Wittrock on Thursday forenoon of last week threshed on the farm he is renting from Frank Dauk. He got a yield of 191 bushels, averaging twenty-six bushels to the acre.

Henry Wittrock came home on a day's visit last Tuesday from the state hospital at St. Peter to see his parents there.

Louis Wittrock, after a visit of ten days with his parents, has gone back to the St. Peter hospital. He spent most of his time helping his father and the neighborhood thresh. Well, he just enjoyed that. It was fun for him. He left yesterday evening at seven o'clock for St. Peter, where he will resume his duties immediately.

Mrs. Frances Schwarbe went out to help her sister, Mrs. Wittrock, during the week the threshers were on the Wittrock farm.

Mrs. Henry Klughertz.

Mrs. Henry Klughertz died at five o'clock yesterday afternoon of a complication of heart trouble and dropsy. She had not been well for the past three years, and was in a serious condition a year ago. She leaves a husband, who is employed at the big mill, and three daughters and two sons. One daughter is employed in the glass block and another in the glass block at St. James.

Mrs. Klughertz was about fifty years of age, and was loved and respected by all who knew her, and was the idol of her family. Her death occurred at her home, 629 East Main street.

The funeral will occur Thursday at 9 a. m. from St. Peter and Paul's Catholic church.

The deceased was born in Mankato township, April 16, 1858. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lill, were immigrants from Germany, who settled in this part of the state in 1855. Mr. Lill still survives. Henry Lill, brother of the deceased, is also living in the city, and is employed as a cooper at the Hubbard mill.

What Is Taste?

The dictionary says it is the particular sensation excited when a soluble substance is brought into contact with certain parts of the mouth. That doesn't read very much like a description of the sensation excited by the first taste of Pillsbury's wafers. The only way to know that particular taste is to buy a package at your grocer's, and try it for breakfast.

HON. HERBERT J. MILLER'S CANDIDACY

Newspapers of the second congressional district and throughout the state have received the candidacy of Hon. Herbert J. Miller for congress with much favor. Comments of the press are as follows:

Jasper Journal: Editor H. J. Miller of The Luverne Herald, has announced himself as a candidate for congressional honors in the second district, and from now until the close of the primary election will endeavor to persuade the voters that it will be to their interest that he be chosen to represent the district during the next two years. Mr. Miller's services as a member of the state senate were very creditable, but it would seem that he has assumed a Herculean task in attempting to wrest this honor from the present incumbent.

Blue Earth Post: Hon. Herbert J. Miller, present candidate for congress to succeed Hon. James T. McCleary, and the able editor of The Luverne Herald, who was one of the ablest, and, we might say, bitterest opponents of the candidacy of Robert C. Dunn, comes out in his editorial columns in a manly acceptance of the result of the late state convention. In that article we find this sentence, which is not only good politics, but good sense. It should be carefully read by all who still have a sore spot: "By all the rules of political warfare, Mr. Dunn was completely victorious. His title to the nomination cannot be questioned and by all the obligations of party fealty and political honor, all who were parties to the contest are bound to accept and abide by the decision of the convention."

Jackson County Republic: Herbert J. Miller, editor of The Rock County Herald, has announced himself as a republican candidate for congress in the second district. Mr. Miller is a newspaper man of high standing in the state, has served two terms in the state senate, and is in every way well equipped to fill the position. Mr. Miller represents a fast growing sentiment in this state among republicans—that of a more liberal adjustment of the tariff schedules, and if he can solidify and bring this element to his support he will give Mr. McCleary a hard run for the nomination.

Lismore (Nobles county) Leader: Having a choice between J. T. McCleary and H. J. Miller, the average voter will find it a little hard to decide which of these would best serve the people of this state at this time. Statements regarding the ability of either are superfluous, as both have proven themselves worthy of support, but the fact that Mr. Miller is inclined to tariff revision, while Mr. McCleary is a "standpatter," will be likely to count in favor of the former gentleman.

Minnesota Signal: There are at present two aspirants for the honor to represent the second congressional district in congress, the Hon. J. T. McCleary of Mankato, and H. J. Miller of Luverne. Mr. Miller is one of the pioneers in this part of Minnesota, and is well known over the district. His record in the state legislature has shown that he possesses the qualifications as a good legislator.

Fulda Free Press: The congressional contest in this district is watched by the whole state. Miller, of Luverne, has a good standing, and is McCleary's superior in a hundred ways. He also edits a good newspaper, but he does not own as many newspapers as McCleary, who owns one in nearly every town.

Fairmont News: Congressman McCleary is said to be in favor of raising the tariff instead of reducing it, which Senator Miller is opposing him on the exact opposite theory. They may both be right and both wrong. It is very possible that raising the tariff on some articles would stimulate home production and finally lead to reduced prices. On the other hand we are firmly of the opinion that it is too high now on many articles. When the tariff only serves to equalize the cost of production between this and other countries, it is generally about right, but when it not only does that but aids in building up a monopoly and gives the producer unfair profits it should be reduced.

Vernon Center, Blue Earth County, News: Hon. H. J. Miller of Luverne has decided to try conclusions with Congressman McCleary for congressional honors in the second district. Mr. Miller is a strong man, and well known throughout the state. He will make the run on the tariff revision plank, in opposition to McCleary's well known anti-revision stand. We fear that Mr. Miller has got into the game a little too late and will be handicapped for lack of time to thoroughly cover the district in the interests of his candidacy. The Mankato Free Press devotes several columns to the advocacy of Mr. Miller's claims.

Truman Tribune: While in Madelia Monday night we had the pleasure of meeting H. J. Miller, editor of The Rock County Herald. Mr. Miller is the man who will run against J. T. McCleary, at the primaries, for the office of United States representative. He is an able man, having been a prominent member of the state legislature for a number of years, and is qualified to fill McCleary's place, and more. Senator Miller is a tariff revisionist and will make his campaign on those lines. We believe that his views accord with those of the majority of the people of the second district and that they will nominate him at the primaries.

Batterfield, Watonwan County, Advocate: Editor H. J. Miller, of The Rock County Herald, Luverne, has made formal announcement of his candidacy in opposition to Congressman McCleary. Indications are that there will be a pretty fight for the coveted plum.

Walnut Grove Tribune: It looks at present as if Congressman McCleary would have opposition this year. Herbert J. Miller, editor of The Rock County Herald, has announced his candidacy for the place. Mr. Miller is a strong republican and ought to stand a good chance of landing the job. Here's success Bro. Miller.

Lamberton Star: In the second congressional district there is pretty strong sentiment growing against McCleary's elevated tariff ideas, and a leading politician of that district says that "strange things have happened than that Bert Miller will be the next representative in congress" from the second district.

Lakefield Standard: Senator H. J. Miller of Luverne has announced that he will be a candidate for the republican nomination for member of congress from this district against James T. McCleary. This will give the tariff revision republicans an opportunity to show their strength, as Mr. Miller is a strong advocate of that policy, whilst Mr. McCleary is opposed to tariff reduction.

Sleepy Eye Dispatch: For the first time in several years the second district will see a contest for the congressional nomination. Hon. H. J. Miller of Luverne having decided to make a try for the nomination. Congressman McCleary has represented this district for twelve years, and twelve years of service have been in the main satisfactory to his constituents. His position on the tariff question has not had the approval of all the people of the district, but sentiment on this question has not sufficiently crystallized to admit of its being much of an issue. Mr. Miller is in every way worthy of the office he now seeks. As the publisher of an influential newspaper he has worked hard for the best interests of the country and he has served his people with credit in the state senate. There will doubtless be a lively contest in several parts of the district, but it will be a fair and square fight from start to finish and when it is over the second district republicans will see to it that the man who gets the nomination is elected.

Iona Journal: Hon. H. J. Miller of Luverne and the able editor of The Rock County Herald, has announced his candidacy for the office of congress from this district. He is a staunch republican and has always worked hard in the interests of the party, and he deserves the nomination. A better man could not be found to represent the people of this district and we feel that he should have the liberal support of all voters.

Comfrey, Brown county, Times: Senator H. J. Miller of Luverne, editor and publisher of The Luverne Herald, has announced his desire to secure the nomination for congress in opposition to Congressman McCleary. Mr. Miller is an advocate of tariff revision and reciprocity, which, however, is not to be mistaken for free trade, and will make his campaign on a platform advocating those principles. In the discussions that will take place between Mr. Miller and Mr. McCleary before the primary election the people of the second district will have splendid opportunity to become thoroughly posted on the subjects of reciprocity and tariff revision.

Rushmore Enterprise: H. J. Miller editor of The Rock County Herald has announced himself as a candidate for congress from the second district in opposition to J. T. McCleary. Mr. Miller is a man of ability and has had considerable legislative experience as state senator from his district. He is a good clean man, and if he lands the nomination his election is sure. The fight will be a lively one throughout the campaign and will determine the sentiment of the second district on the tariff question. Mr. McCleary believes in letting tariff remain as it is, or what is termed as the "standpatter," while Mr. Miller believes in revising the tariff to meet present needs of the country. The campaign will be fought on this issue and will be educational in character as both candidates are able exponents of their ideas.

Dawson Sentinel: H. J. Miller, editor of The Luverne Herald, has announced himself as a candidate for congressman on the Republican ticket in the second congressional district. The Sentinel has nothing to do with politics in the second district, but will "butt in" long enough to hope Mr. Miller will beat J. T. McCleary to a finish. Mr. Miller is a fearless and honest man and would do something for his district if he got into congress.

Westbrook, Cottonwood County Sentinel: H. J. Miller, editor of The Luverne Herald, has announced that he will be a candidate for congress from this district against Congressman McCleary. Miller is a strong man, and is an advocate of tariff revision, especially relating to trust made articles, and of reciprocity with Canada and Mexico. McCleary is a stand-patter, and we opine that the brainy editor of Rock county will make him wish he had discarded and drawn to his hand before the campaign is over.

Granite Falls Journal: H. J. Miller of The Luverne Herald, has announced himself a candidate for congress in the second district against James T. McCleary. While Mr. McCleary has the inside track on account of already holding the position, we believe Mr. Miller will give him a hard fight on account of his popularity. He must have had strong pressure to bear upon him to have induced him to enter the race, as he is known to be a very quiet, unassuming gentleman.

St. James Plaindealer: Senator H. J. Miller of Luverne, was looking over the situation in St. James this week relative to his chances for congressman in this, the second district. Mr. Miller is a man well known in southern Minnesota, and an able and one of the leading editors of this part of the state. He aspires to give Congressman McCleary a rest, and should he succeed the people need not fear for the results, but as a whole, we know of no dissatisfaction in this section with Mr. McCleary. Both men are able, and it remains to be seen who gets the largest number of supporters.

Winona Independent: Representative McCleary of the second district has the fight of his life on his hands to get a nomination again. Mr. McCleary is not in sympathy with a large element of his supporters, and it will be no surprise if he is beaten by Miller of Luverne.

DRAWN UNDER TRAIN

Walter Ziesarewitsch Killed by Cars Near Amboy.

Attempted to Get Aboard a Moving Freight Train.

But Slipped and Was Dragged Under the Wheels.

Death Was Instantaneous--Son of a Section Man.

From Wednesday's Daily. Walter Ziesarewitsch, aged thirteen, was killed while attempting to board a moving southbound freight train on the Omaha road near Amboy this morning. Ziesarewitsch and two companions, Finke and Jordan, two boys younger than the first named, were walking toward Amboy when the freight came along. In his attempt to climb aboard the train his feet slipped, and Ziesarewitsch's body was drawn under. The left hand was severed and the boy received an ugly gash on the side of his head. After the train had passed the boy's dead body was found lying between the rails. The train crew did not learn of the accident until they reached Amboy. The father of the dead boy is Peter Ziesarewitsch who is employed on the section. Coroner Kennedy was called. The accident occurred about a mile out from Amboy.

STEEPED IN MYSTERY.

Joseph Stangler Would Like to Know Whereabouts of Horses.

Joseph Stangler of Lake Emily, who suffered a loss about a month ago of his barn and nine head of horses and all the farm machinery, does not feel satisfied that the large black team perished with the rest of his horses. There seems to be a mystery connected with the affair. The general opinion is that the team was stolen from the barn and then set a fire, also the harness belonging to this team is gone without leaving a single trace. He has looked in vain for the large brass nubs of the harness which he is satisfied would be there if the harness had burned.

John L. Christosen.

James C. Moore, local freight agent of the Milwaukee road, today received a telegram to the effect that his brother-in-law, John L. Christosen of Fairbault, was dead. The news was not altogether unexpected, as Mr. Christosen had been ill during the past nine months with Bright's disease. He is survived by a wife and seven children, some of whom are grown. Mrs. Sarah Moore, mother-in-law of the deceased, left this afternoon for Fairbault. J. C. Moore will probably go to Fairbault tomorrow.

MAKES THEM SMILE

Reports From Threshers Continue to Be Encouraging.

Farmers Around Vernon Center Are Getting Big Yields

Their Most Sanguine Expectations Fully Realized.

News and Gossip Gathered in the Pretty Village.

From Saturday's Daily.

Vernon Center, Aug. 20.—The farmers of this vicinity are very much pleased with the outlook for crops at present, as every succeeding one brings in new wheat and the grade hits No. 1, hard. Their faces are seen to lighten up, and no thought of hard times or poor crop seems to bother them. During the past week Geo. Buckminster threshed a twenty acre field of wheat, which yielded twenty-five and a half bushels of No. 1. Mr. Buckminster has another piece of 140 acres which he states he is sure will average thirty bushels per acre.

Lyman Robinson, who is farming J. Harry Thompson's place, is threshing at present and this field is going between twenty-eight and thirty bushels. Reports from a number of other reliable sources are to the effect that wheat will average twenty-five bushels, while oats will easily go fifty bushels to the acre. Quite a good deal of threshing from the shock is being done in this vicinity.

With four weeks more of the present weather the corn crop will be out of danger, and it is estimated will be greater than for a number of years. The Misses Stella Dredge of Lake Crystal, and Percia Barnes of Minneapolis are guests at the home of F. H. Barnes.

L. S. Terry accompanied by his wife, left Tuesday for Lewiston, Idaho, where they will spend a month with their daughter, Mrs. Nickerson and granddaughter, Helen Grammas.

Minnie Warren of Hartland, Wis., is visiting his brother, W. B. Warren, who has been confined to his home for the past year.

Robert H. Brown, the gentlemanly candidate for county superintendent of schools, came down from St. Clair to look after his home, and also look up his interests here and at Amboy. If Mr. Brown were as well and favorably known throughout the county as he is at home he would certainly have a walkaway at the primary election.

Jeanette Hazleton of St. Paul is visiting her friend, Edna Brewer.

Hellen Marie Stebbins, who has been spending the summer with her brothers at Morris and Hancock, returned to her home the first of the week.

Mrs. H. E. Harvey of Madelia spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. Dewey, while on her way to the twin cities.

Rob. Hays and Chuck Burrows Sunday with their families, leaving on the early Monday train.

Mrs. Frank E. Cooper and children accompanied by Mrs. Cooper's sister, Mrs. Endicott, drove to Mapleton Tuesday, where they will visit for a week.

Ed. Johnson left Friday for Bonesteel, S. D., where he will file on his claim, which he drew in the recent government land lottery.

Stephen Thorne shook hands with his friends, and they are legion, in Vernon the first of the week. There is no doubt as to Mr. Thorne receiving a full share of votes at the primaries from this part of the county.

Lilla Oajard of Mankato was the guest of Mae Wilbur the past few days returning to her home Thursday.

Ed. Barnes and family, and Gladys Warren drove to Mankato Tuesday, and took in the Gentry shows.

E. L. Warren and A. G. Halverson left Thursday for a three weeks outing at Cumberland, Wis., where they will camp

WORK OF BLACK RUST.

It Is Described by Ed Jenkins of Lake Crystal.

From Wednesday's Daily. Ed. Jenkins who resides in this place, has on his farm in Sargent County, N. D., 150 acres sown to wheat. He has just returned from there and brought a sample of wheat heads to show the condition of his crop. There is here and there a kernel of wheat in each head but they are all shriveled, and no good to mention. It might do for feed if there were enough of it to make it an object to cut. Mr. Jenkins told the tenant on the place that he might do as he pleased with the crop; it wasn't worth harvesting to him. The tenant worked the farm for half, but there is no half to speak of so the year's work is gone. Mr. Jenkins says the farmers are awful blue in that county. He was up and visited his farm in June, and he says then the prospect for a fine crop never was better; but there's many a slip betwixt the cup and the lip. In North Dakota wheat raising is the principal occupation of farmers. No corn to speak of is raised; flax, barley and oats are raised, but these crops are a side issue, with wheat raising as the old stand-by. No wonder that the price of wheat is up and may go higher before things take a turn.—Lake Crystal Union.
