

Dr. Boehm was called out to St. Augusta this morning to give medical attention to the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Landwehr. The child, who is but three years old, accidentally cut the end of his finger badly on a washing machine with which he was playing in the store of Henry Beumer. The doctor had to take several stitches in the finger to restore it. The child underwent the operation without the administration of any anesthetics and stood it without a whimper.
